The Schlesinger Visiting Writer Series

SUSAN HOWE

Thursday, November 10 | LC 317 | 5:00pm

One of the preeminent poets of her generation, Susan Howe is known for innovative verse that crosses genres and disciplines. Howe has received numerous honors and awards for her work, including two American Book Awards, a Guggenheim Fellowship, and the Bollingen Prize in American Poetry.

"Reaching back through Hawthorne, Dickinson and beyond, Susan Howe taps a stream of American thinking that is as clear and fresh as a draught of well water. She is our conscience, our voice, our song."

- John Ashbery
